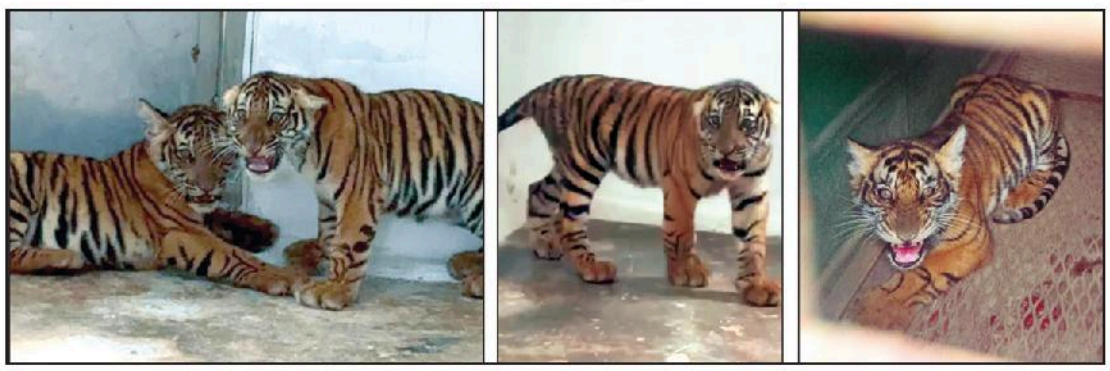
Four tiger cubs die after rescue

Cubs may have died from stress, weakness; lab report awaited



Mysuru, Dec. 10 (MTY,MK& KS)- Four tiger cubs rescued from a maize field at Gowdanakatte village in Hanagodu Hobli, Hunsur Taluk, on Nov. 30 and housed at Mysuru Zoo's Chamundi Wildlife Rescue, Conservation and Rehabilitation Centre in Koorgalli have died.

One cub died on Dec. 6, two on Dec. 7 and the fourth on Dec. 9. Zoo officials said the mother tigress remains healthy and viscera of the cubs have been sent for laboratory analysis to determine the exact cause of death.

Frightened by commotion?

Wildlife experts said the tiger cubs may have been frightened by the shouting and commotion during the capture operation. Having been separated from their mother for two days, the cubs were likely weakened by hunger. They may also have become exhausted while running around in panic due to the crowd's noise and during the rescue attempt. Although they were immediately shifted to the rehabilitation centre for proper treatment, they did not survive.

However, Zoo officials have maintained that the exact cause of death will be known only after the laboratory reports are received.

Sugar deal turns sour

Mysuru bizman flees after collecting Rs. 3.39 crore from Chhattisgarh merchant for sugar consignment

Mysuru, Dec. 10 (PM,RK&KS)- Devaraja Police have registered an FIR against S. Vinay, Managing Director of TR Group Impex at Devaraja Mohalla, for allegedly failing to supply 25,000 Metric Tonnes (MT) of refined sugar to a Chhattisgarh-based businessman after collecting an advance of Rs. 3.39 crore, thereby cheating him.

Police sources said the case was registered on Monday, and a search has been launched to trace Vinay, who has reportedly been absconding for the past one-and-a-half years.

The FIR pertains to a complaint filed by Amith Kumar Rakecha, Partner of AVI India International LLP at Lalaganga Business Park, Raipur.

According to the complaint, Vinay, who was involved in import-export operations, approached the company in January 2023, offering to supply refined sugar. On Jan. 25, 2023, an agreement was executed for the purchase of 25,000 MT of refined sugar.

Subsequently, on Feb. 7, 2023, the company transferred Rs. 3,29,61,250 to Vinay's bank account through RTGS, with the expectation that the sugar would be supplied within a week as per the agreement.

However, not even a kilogram of sugar was delivered. The complainant has alleged that the cheating was deliberate and pre-planned. Devaraja Police have taken up the investigation.

JALEBIS AND DEMOCRACY: When people talk politics to me and ask whether I'm pro-govt or anti-govt, pro-opposition or anti-opposition, I ask them how much they like jalebis.

Winston Churchill — arch-imperialist, engineer of the Great Bengal Famine that claimed millions of lives and loathsome specimen of the inhuman race — got it right for once when he said that democracy is the worst form of govt except for all the others that have been tried from time to time.

Democracy is not perfect and its biggest imperfection is democracy itself. Democracy is founded on the elective principle of choice between govt and opposition. This necessitates democracy to be a binary system. A zero-sum game in which one side's win can result only from another side's loss.

Computers operate on a binary system. A computer's response to an input can be either 0 or 1. It cannot be both at the same time.

Parliamentary democracy makes us choose between govt and opposition or anti-govt, between zero and one. We can't choose both together.

But unlike computers, we are not programmed to be binary entities. We might sometimes want zero and sometimes one and sometimes both zero and one at the same time.

That's where jalebis come into it. In his The Story of Civilisation, CEM Joad, addressing his youthful readership, asked if one would be happy to eat only treacle toffee, assuming that it was one's favourite food, all the time. And of course the answer is no.

Joad said civilisation is based on the Aristotelian Golden Mean, the Buddha's Middle Path, which lies between all treacle toffee and no treacle toffee at all, between all zeros and all ones, between opulence and destitution, between all govt and no govt, all opposition or no opposition.

I like jalebis, but not all the time. I like daal-roti as well or a slice of pizza. Similarly, there are times when I agree with govt and times when I agree with opposition. Does that make me a split personality or just a split voter?

So when I'm asked about my politics, I say I like jalebis, but not all that much…

World's largest Lego mural assembled

Yverdon-les-Bains: A charity event in Switzerland attempted a Guinness World Record by assembling a mural from 300,000 Lego bricks.

The mural, which measures nearly 79 feet long and more than 6 feet tall, was assembled as part of the Swiss Telethon, which raised money for people living with rare genetic diseases.

The mural, assembled in Yverdon-les-Bains, depicts various locations in Switzerland's North Vaud region. The mural was designed and assembled by Brickmaster.ch, a Concise-based company specializing in Lego-related events.

The artwork awaits review by Guinness World Records to officially earn the title of largest Lego mural.

'Scream therapy' helps youths de-stress

London: At a London park, dozens of young people gathered, awaiting the starting signal. Then, they screamed at the top of their voices – all in a bid to release tension. This so-called scream therapy is a technique rapidly gaining popularity on social media and has made its way to Britain from the United States.

"It was very therapeutic," 23-year-old Rebekah Drakes told reporters after screaming at the top of Parliament Hill on Hampstead Heath, in the north of the British capital. She, along with other participants mostly in their 20s, was taking part in a "Scream Club". She added, "I feel like you don't realise how much you're holding in until you can let it all out."

Before the collective shout, participants took turns climbing onto a bench. There, they discussed their loneliness or struggle to find their place in society. Some talked about what angered them in the news, to cheers from the crowd.

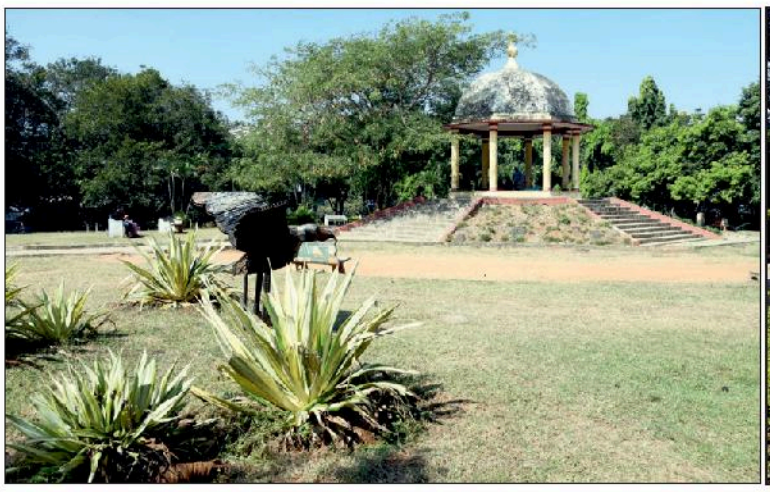
Amrit Mitra Scheme

MCC to hand over 10 parks to women self-help groups



Mysuru, Dec. 10 (MK&VNS)- The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) will entrust the maintenance of 10 parks to six women's self-help groups (SHGs) under the Union Government's 'Amrit Mitra' programme, aimed at improving urban green spaces while generating employment for women.

The selected parks include Hyder Ali Park (Ward 9); the park opposite Al-Badr Masjid and the parks behind Masjid-e-Khudaadaad and Andalus School (Ward 10); the park near Little Infant School and the triangular park opposite Shantinagar School (Ward 11); Shivaji Park (Ward 29); Sathagalli Bandekallu Park and Rajiv Gandhi Park (Ward 34); and Madhuvana Park (Ward 64).

The parks will be maintained for one year at a total cost of Rs. 60 lakh — fully funded by the Union Government. Each park has been allotted Rs. 10 lakh.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, MCC Horticulture Assistant Executive Engineer P.K. Mohankumar said the allocation was made based on the size and individual requirements of each park.

"Currently, maintenance is outsourced and payments are linked to work quality. Under the Amrit Mitra programme, we have identified 10 parks to be handed over to women's SHGs that have agreed to MCC's terms," he said.

He added that gym equipment in parks continues to be maintained by contractors. Tenders will soon be invited to replace damaged equipment across the city.

How the scheme works

Under Amrit Mitra, SHGs receive work orders worth up to Rs. 30 lakh annually. Groups are selected through a press notification, followed by scrutiny of applications by an internal committee. To qualify, a group must be active, financially well-managed and at least three years old. Once selected, funds are transferred directly to the group's account by the Union Government.

In the first phase, six SHGs have been given responsibility for 10 parks at a collective cost of Rs. 60 lakh. MCC has also submitted a proposal seeking Rs. 1.20 crore for the development of 47 additional parks with 12 components each.

SHGs receiving work orders

- Sammati Mahila Stree Shakti SHG, Naidunagar
- Sri Lakshmi Saraswathi SHG, Rajivnagar
- Noor Stree Shakti SHG, Aziz Sait Nagar
- Gulkan Mahila Stree Shakti SHG
- Ya Habeebi Stree Shakti SHG, Aziz Sait Nagar
- Sri Annapoorneshwari Mahila SHG, Srirampura

56 new parks added to MCC limits

With 56 parks recently handed over from the erstwhile Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA), MCC now manages a total of 585 parks. Of these, 332 are maintained directly by MCC, 22 under CSR initiatives and the rest through adoption schemes.

Maintenance responsibilities entrusted to SHGs

- Daily cleaning of parks
- Watering plants and trees
- Weeding and removal of unwanted growth
- Converting leaf litter into compost within the park
- Segregating dry waste and handing it over to MCC
- Regular trimming and pruning of plants

MCC appeals for adoption of parks to boost green cover

Mysuru, Dec. 10 (MTY&BS)- Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif has urged interested residents, organisations and associations to adopt and maintain parks across the city, reinforcing MCC's efforts to keep Mysuru clean, green and aesthetically vibrant.

He was speaking at a programme organised recently at the Old Council Hall to distribute Certificates of Appreciation to organisations and associations involved in park maintenance under Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) initiatives.

So far, several organisations have taken responsibility for 13 parks across various localities. Some groups have even been supplying saplings to MCC free of cost, a gesture the Corporation has recognised through these certificates.

H.V. Rajeev, President of H.V. Rajeev Sneha Balaga, who was felicitated for providing 3,000 saplings to MCC, suggested forming a committee of representatives from interested organisations, with a Forest Officer included, to offer scientific guidance. Many groups actively plant and nurture saplings but lack specialised knowledge on species crucial for maintaining ecological balance, he noted.

Officials from Toyota Kirloskar Autoparts Pvt. Ltd., honoured for developing a mini forest on a one-acre park in Vijayanagar 3rd Stage and planting saplings across two acres at Jodi Bevinamara Park in Dattagalli, pledged continued support to MCC's environmental conservation initiatives.

H.V. Rajeev feted

Taking note of the nature conservation efforts by H.V. Rajeev Sneha Balaga, the MCC honoured H.V. Rajeev, who is also a former MUDA Chairman, by presenting him with a Certificate of Appreciation at a programme held at the MCC premises.

Rajeev was recognised for gifting 3,000 saplings to the MCC for the year 2025-26 under the 'Namma Mysuru - Namma Koduge' CSR initiative.

Speaking on the occasion, MCC Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif lauded Rajeev's contribution towards expanding the city's green cover. Emphasising the crucial role of public organisations in building a clean and green Mysuru, he noted that 13 parks have so far been adopted by corporate companies for maintenance and development, with more firms expressing interest.

Rajeev suggested that the MCC constitute an advisory committee comprising associations involved in environmental and ecological conservation.

Stray dog guardianship: Follow Mumbai's model

Sir,

A reader's voice titled "What is true love for our stray dogs?" published in Star of Mysore dated Dec.7 intrigued me deeply. It was mentioned that a naturalist was in favour of keeping stray dogs in shelters, as this would make vaccinating and neutering the dogs easier.

This opinion not only intrigued me but also made me question how the 'naturalist' is ignorant of the fact that the natural habitat of dogs is not in shelters or kennels but in the same environment that we humans roam freely.

Furthermore, shelters not only cause depression, cross-infection and conflicts among dogs, they also become noisy, unhygienic and pathetic for dogs to survive.

Shelters are the only prisons where every captive is innocent.

I once visited Mumbai's infamous Nariman Point. I noticed that every stray dog along that stretch had a badge on its collar with its name and the contact number of its guardian.

If a densely populated metropolitan city like Mumbai can implement this programme, a city like Namma Mysuru can certainly make an honest attempt at it, can't it?!

Volunteers, aka animal lovers, can come forward to take responsibility (vaccinating, deworming, neutering, etc.) of as many stray dogs as possible. Any complaints or nuisance caused by the dog(s) shall also be addressed by the volunteer. This way, animal lovers become the dogs' guardian angels.

I sincerely hope that the government takes practical steps to maintain the human-animal balance in a way that we all can coexist with empathy and compassion.

City Police take out parade at CAR Grounds

Position is not mandatory to do a good job: ADGP Chandrashekar

Mysuru, Dec. 10 (RK&BS)- ADGP Internal Security Division (ISD) M. Chandrashekar addressed the parade at City Armed Reserve (CAR) Police Grounds at the foot of Chamundi Hill here this morning. DCP (Law and Order) R.N. Bindu Mani was the Parade Commander.

In his address, the ADGP highlighted that 'To do a good deed, position is not mandatory.'

To convey his thoughtful advice to Police succinctly, Chandrashekar cited the example of one Charan Singh, a Police Constable in Himachal Pradesh.

"Be it any crowd or situation, Singh had adept knowledge of managing the crowd. Even the top echelons at the Government, including the Chief Minister and DGP were looking at him for solutions during crisis. After reaching the rank of Inspector, he took voluntary retirement from the service. But still, he was the most sought after person, who was appointed as Advisor to the CM," he said.

Leave imprint

Driving home the point, ADGP Chandrashekar told the Police, "The position and ranking is required only to set right the wrongs. What assumes significance is to maintain an equilibrium between the checks and balances. Most importantly, wherever you go, do the job efficiently. Be it in parade or at home, act according to the situation. The works should last long and people must be talking about your deeds. Above all, one should be grateful and loyal to the Government, especially those in service."

Reminding the Police about the fundamental duties, ADGP said, "The curse of the painful people will be so severe that, you should not hurt anyone. If you come across any injustice, you should develop at least humility to call out the injustice."

He gave the example of Mahabharat, which is known for epic battle between Kauravas and Pandavas. "Lord Krishna, despite having a premonition about its ill effect, remains oblivious, until thousands of lives are lost in the battle field," he said.

Hence, don't shirk away from any responsibilities. Don't carry the tension home, but perform the duty honestly, while in office. The time spent won't return. The position may change, along with place and nature of work, but you should make it a point to leave your imprint, he advised the Police.

Referring to his two-day visit to the city yesterday, followed by a review meeting, ADGP Chandrashekar remarked that, 'you are lucky to have been serving here in the Police Commissionerate under Seema Latkar as Police Commissioner. Mysuru and Mangaluru Police are very efficient in service,' he lauded.

City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar, DCP (Crime and Traffic) K.S. Sundar Raj, Mounted Police Commandant Maruti, all ACPs, Police Inspectors, unit officers from KSRP, Intelligence, Dog Squad and other wings of the Police were present during the Parade.

Elephant Taksha dies at Dubare Elephant Camp

Kushalnagar, Dec. 10 (KS)- Taksha, an elephant which was housed at Dubare Elephant Camp since a year, has died at the camp on Monday night.

Taksha, which fell sick at the camp about 10 days ago, had stopped consuming food and had grown weak. On Dec. 6, Taksha's health condition worsened and was being treated by veterinarian Dr. Mujeeb and team. But the elephant did not respond to the treatment and breathed its last on Monday night.

Taksha, which was creating havoc at Channapatna in Ramanagar district, was captured on Dec. 28, 2024 and was brought to Dubare Elephant Camp and was kept in the kraal where it was tamed. It was released from the kraal on July 21, 2025, following which it mingled with other elephants in the camp. But Taksha took ill suddenly and the Forest officials assumed that the elephant had grown weak.

Veterinarians Dr. Mujeeb, Dr. Chittiappa and Dr. Sanjeev Kumar Shinde conducted post-mortem in the presence of Kodagu Circle Conservator of Forests Sonal Vishya during which samples were collected and sent to a laboratory.

Madikeri Division Deputy Conservator of Forests V. Abhishek, Somwarpet Division Assistant Conservator of Forests A.A. Gopal, Kushalnagar Range Forest Officer (RFO) R. Rakshit, Dubare Deputy RFO K.P. Ranjan and others were present.

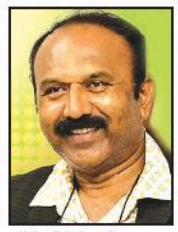
Greater Mysuru plan

State Govt. to buy 300 acres for housing sites

Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh responds to MLC K. Shivakumar

Mysuru, Dec. 10 (PM&BCT)- Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh has announced that with the Chief Minister's approval, the State Government has decided to establish a 'Greater Mysuru City Corporation' to fast-track Mysuru's development.

Byrathi Suresh



K. Shivakumar

He confirmed that officials have already been instructed to purchase 300 acres of land for the distribution of residential sites to citizens.

Responding to a question by MLC K. Shivakumar during Question Hour on the second day of the Winter Session at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi yesterday, the Minister noted that lakhs of people across Karnataka are seeking residential sites.

Within the Mysuru Development Authority (MDA) limits alone, 63,000 applicants are awaiting sites. The Government, he said, must identify siteless families and allot sites according to the rules.

The MLC stressed that when land is acquired from farmers on a 50 percent sharing basis, projects must be completed within the stipulated timeline so that farmers receive their share of developed sites.

In response, Minister Byrathi Suresh reiterated that officials have already been directed to acquire 300 acres of land in Mysuru for site distribution.

He observed that many Housing Societies still operate on caste lines, which violates the spirit of Constitution and said, the Urban Development Department should not approve such Societies.

Pollution of rivers, Lakes

MLC Shivakumar also raised concerns about the rising pollution of major rivers and lakes across the State. Drawing parallels with the Union Government's 'Namami Gange' initiative, he urged Karnataka to undertake a similar mission to clean its rivers.

He said, untreated wastewater is increasingly being released into rivers and lakes in urban areas, with several lakes in Mysuru already contaminated. Polluted water is also entering the Cauvery and Kapila rivers. The Central Pollution Control Board has identified 14 polluted rivers in Karnataka — a deeply worrying trend, he noted.

To this, the Minister added that the Department is raising awareness to curb the discharge of untreated wastewater into rivers and lakes and warned that strict action will be taken against violators.

Centre clears two tourism initiatives

Yaduveer Wadiyar expressed satisfaction over the final approval, stating that the initiatives will give Mysuru's tourism sector a significant boost. He has asked district officials to finalise a date for the ground-breaking ceremony at the earliest.

Union Minister Shekhawat has assured full support for the projects. The MP added that efforts are underway to secure clearances for several other tourism proposals submitted for Mysuru.

Reiterating his commitment, Wadiyar said the Central Government remains focused on Mysuru's overall development and on strengthening tourism infrastructure, adding that he will continue to work for the progress of the Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha constituency.

Four tiger cubs die after rescue

Capture operation

The tigress had been sheltering the cubs in the maize field belonging to farmer Ravikumar. On Nov. 27, she reportedly attempted to attack two farmers and even charged at Forest Department staff engaged in combing operations. Drone surveillance later confirmed her presence along with the cubs.

The Forest Department launched an operation that night, and by the morning of Nov. 28, the tigress was safely captured. However, despite round-the-clock combing by more than 60 personnel over two days, the cubs could not be traced, increasing anxiety among officials.

On the morning of Nov. 30, weakened and hungry, the cubs began crying for their mother from inside the maize field. Locals alerted Forest staff, who rushed to the spot. At around 10.45 am, one cub was rescued, followed soon by the remaining three, found hiding in different parts of the field.

All four cubs were shifted to the Chamundi Wildlife Rescue Centre, where the mother tigress had also been relocated.

Cautious reuniting approach

Officials, however, hesitated to place the cubs directly with the tigress, fearing that a distressed mother might turn aggressive. The cubs were housed in an adjoining enclosure and fed separately. The tigress gradually recognised their scent and showed signs of bonding. Experts recommended a slow, cautious reunion to avoid rejection or harm.

After several days of preparation, the cubs were released into their mother's enclosure. CCTV footage showed the tigress sniffing and accepting them warmly.

Having been separated for four days, she immediately displayed affection and began nursing them. Officials later confirmed that the tigress and cubs were moving about playfully inside the enclosure.

Move MCC Main Office to old DC's office'

Mysuru, Dec. 10 (BS)- Activists of Mysuru Kannada Vedike staged a protest in front of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) main office on New Sayyaji Rao Road here this morning, demanding the shifting of MCC Main office to old Deputy Commissioner's office, which has now fallen vacant.

The protesters, led by Vedike President S. Balakrishna, said, following the decision of the State Government to upgrade MCC to Greater MCC, the existing premises will prove too short to accommodate the growing demands. Be it the Council Hall, vehicle parking lot, number of Corporators, all are set for increase in space and numbers. So, before the old DC's office falls into decay, the MCC main office should be shifted there, by restoring the prominent heritage building.

The decision to shift MCC Main Office to old DC's office, if came into fruition, shall prove significant in the wake of the Government's decision to demolish and rebuild Lansdowne building and Devaraja Market, two among several such heritage structures in the city.

Nala Beedhi Ravi, Bogadi Siddegowda, Gurubasappa, Palace Babu, Chamaraju Mandakalli, Gopi, Madappa, LIC Siddappa Swamy, Mahadeva Swamy, Cheluvaraya Swamy, Chinnappa, Shivugowda, Govindaraju, Harish, Swamy (Guide), Sunil and others took part in the protest.

Starving tiger cub shifted to Bannerghatta; mother missing

Hunsur, Dec. 10 (MTY,MK& KS)-A tiger cub rescued near Gurupura Tibetan Colony, bordering the Veeranahosahalli Wildlife Range of the Nagarahole Tiger Reserve, has been shifted to the Bannerghatta Rehabilitation Centre in Bengaluru.

However, the tigress remains untraced despite an intensive two-day combing operation.

The Forest Department rescued the cub — estimated to be between 2 and 3 months old — on Dec. 6 near Gurupura Tibetan Colony in Hunsur taluk.

At around 10 am, residents of the colony heard faint cries resembling those of a kitten near J. Village in Veeranahosahalli limits. On approaching the spot, they found a lone tiger cub and alerted Forest officials, who rushed to the location, confirmed the cub was unaccompanied and rescued it.

The cub was taken to the Veeranahosahalli Range Office, where veterinarians examined it and determined that it was a female tiger cub aged between two and three months and had been without food for nearly three days. Forest staff fed the cub, and veterinarians continued to monitor its health.

A search operation was launched to trace the tigress, using drone surveillance, as officials suspected that two to three more cubs might be in the area, while the mother was relocating her litter.

Despite an extensive two-day combing effort, the tigress could not be found. On Monday night, the cub was shifted to the Bannerghatta Rehabilitation Centre.

The story was beautifully depicted with dance and dialogues together going hand in hand with the birth of Kaveri during Amruta Manthana, Brahma accepting her as his daughter, then Brahma giving her to Sage Kavera, Sage Agastya proposing to marry her and many more episodes.

She herself as Kaveri, portrayed the importance of her interest to serve the universe and the fury when Agastya wanted to put her in his Kamandalu.

Sheela Prabha (Kavera Muni), Sanjana (Brahma), Ananya and Ramita as Devaasuras, Aditi (Rukmini) and Srilakshmi (Krishna) performed the roles to connect the story beautifully.

WORD OF THE DAY

Inoculate

Pronunciation: ih-NAHK-yuh-layt (verb).
Meaning: To inoculate a person or animal is to introduce immunologically active material (such as an antibody or antigen) into them especially in order to treat or prevent a disease. Inoculate can also mean "to introduce (something, such as a microorganism) into a suitable situation for growth," and in figurative use, it can mean "to protect as if by inoculation" or "to introduce something into the mind of."
Origin: If you think you see a connection between inoculate and ocular ("of or relating to the eye"), you have a good eye—both words look back to oculus, the Latin word for "eye." But what does the eye have to do with inoculation? Our answer lies in the original use of inoculate in Middle English: "to insert a bud into a plant for propagation." The Latin oculus was sometimes applied to things that were seen to resemble eyes, and one such thing was the bud of a plant. Inoculate was later applied to other forms of engrafting or implanting, including the introduction of vaccines as a preventative against disease.
Example: "Truffle farmers ... inoculate oak or hazelnut seedlings with truffle spores, plant the seedlings and wait patiently often a decade or more for the underground relationship to mature. The eventual harvest is a reward for years of cooperation between tree and fungus." — David Shubin, The Weekly Calistogan (Calistoga, California), 30 Oct. 2025.

THE ODD WORD

Pallasethesia
Sense of vibration.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A picture paints a thousand words

Meaning: You use the phrase 'A picture paints a thousand words' to indicate that a picture or impression can express a complex idea in the same way a large amount of descriptive text can.
Origin: A similar expression to 'A picture paints a thousand words' first appeared in a 1911 newspaper article quoting editor Arthur Brisbane's discussion of journalism and publicity: "Use a picture. It's worth a thousand words." During the discussion, Brisbane was making a clear-cut case for the use of images to accompany stories.
Example: "Wow, this photograph really is amazing. A picture paints a thousand words!"

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.
